A news channel's sting operation has revealed the large scale sale of counterfeit drugs of reputed pharmaceutical companies.

The fake drugs included popular medicines for fever, heart, cough, liver and kidney ailments that are usually sold over the counter.

According to experts, these fake medicines contain harmful salts and can severely damage internal organs if they are consumed.

The sting operation reveals that the drug mafia in Meerut, in particular, are packaging and selling counterfeit medicines in the wrappers of renowned prestigious drug brands.

The medicinal salts include Ibuprofen and Paracetamol.
